Included are the following items:

1. Schedule
2. Lecture notes
3. Exercises
4. An old grammar exam
5. An old translation exam

Organization of the course:

The course is organized as a series of 'Grammar Days'. Each day starts with a lecture, and ends with a workshop/discussion session. The distribution between these two parts of the day may vary somewhat, depending on how much we need to cover in the lecture and/or how many exercises there are for you to do. In between the lecture and the workshop/discussion session you are expected to work with the exercises both in the Workbook supporting the textbook and in the course compendium. In preparation for the lectures, you are expected to do the readings specified in the schedule. You are NOT expected to do any exercises in advance, although you may prepare the exercises in the Workbook, which have a key.
