

The staff at the Master of Arts Programme in European Studies is very much looking forward to meeting you all in Lund in August.

Teaching and assessment of students' performance may be carried out on the University's premises during the autumn semester of 2020. In such activities, the vice-chancellor's decisions and the Swedish Public Health Agency's rules, general guidelines and recommendations to reduce the spread of Covid-19 are to be observed. Courses and programmes may need to be conducted remotely, wholly or in part. At MAPES we plan to conduct the courses on campus as far as possible, but we need to stay flexible and may have to adapt teaching during the semester, depending on the development of the Covid-19 situation. If necessary, we may use 'blended learning' and offer remote teaching.

Please keep yourself updated regarding the coronavirus via this Lund University webpage:
<https://lunduniversity.lu.se/student-life/before-you-arrive/coronavirus-covid-19-information/coronavirus-faq-newly-admitted-degree-students>

Do not hesitate to contact the student counsellor and programme administrator of MAPES with any questions!

From August on this will be Susan Hydén.

E-post susan.hyden@sol.lu.se

Telefon 046–222 84 65